

Weddings

Last Updated Saturday, 03 September 2011 12:47

I love wedding photography and approach every wedding I photograph with 100% commitment and dedication. I will work with you to ensure you get exactly what you want from your wedding photography, every wedding is unique and I will ensure the individuality of your wedding is captured in your photographs and any individual requests you have are fulfilled.

My approach is professional yet relaxed and I will endeavour to help you feel at ease in front of the camera and being female certainly helps with the getting ready shots. I will usually take a combination of formal and candid shots and offer a comprehensive service including a pre-wedding meeting and practice shoot, venue visit, full coverage of your day and a CD of all the best images. I also offer a complete print and album service including parent and guest books individually designed to suit taste.